INTRODUCTION

I'm a recently graduated game programming student with a lot of prior experience working in a kitchen. I'm searching for my first long-term employment now that I've finished my education. Through my work experience and education, I've gained an affinity for highly effective and organized work even under high pressure, which I'm looking to bring to this position.

GOALS

I'm looking for an opportunity to use my skills within my work life and get more practical programming experience. Programming has been my passion for many years and I'm very excited to put my knowledge to the test and take the first step in my journey as a professional programmer.
